Five cadets set out on a training mission aboard the stellar sailer, The Sunfish. That mission quickly morphs into an assignment to save space travel itself.

Someone is sabotaging the stellar turbines that power the United Galaxies. Entire planets are losing power. People are panicking. The Feed is filling with conspiracy theories, angry rants, and bad information. Our stalwart crew must race against time to uncover extinct technology, stop the saboteur, and save space travel across the United Galaxies. The cadets must learn to trust themselves - and each other - in order to become the heroes they are destined to be.
